Quantum Energetics Structured Therapy (QEST) Informed Consent:

The following information has been provided so you can make an informed choice regarding your health care options. Thus, your decision to participate in this work as you seek to maximize your health will be an informed decision. If you have any questions, let us discuss them before proceeding so we can both have a clear understanding of our expectations and responsibilities. Following is a brief explanation of how Quantum Energetics Structured Therapy™ works. This natural energy medicine is also known as QEST™ and in the past was informally known as Quantum Energetics (QE). No promises or claims are made other than I will do my best, as I join you in your quest for greater quality of life.

My Background Information:

I am currently a student of Quantum Energetics Structured Therapy through Quantum Energetics Institute in Fort Collins, CO. I graduated from Amherst College in 1990 with a degree in Religious Studies and have been working as a writer/editor for hospitals and medical publications since 1998. In addition to my work as a medical writer, I have studied and used many alternative and complementary therapies such as herbal medicine, homeopathy, Traditional Chinese Medicine, Qi Gong, and more.

QEST has incredibly powerful results. Many have had results with QEST after they have tried and given up on other therapies. Others want QEST because they have seen results with family members or friends and want its protective and restorative benefits, even if they are not currently experiencing symptoms.

About Quantum Energetics or Quantum Energetics Structured Therapy (QEST):

What is Quantum Energetics Structured Therapy (QE / QEST)? QEST is a holistic, non-invasive approach of working with the energy body to improve general health. Various procedures help to re-establish disrupted energy patterns, so the body can begin needed repairs—previously delayed. Head injuries, even those that have not caused unconsciousness, are particularly significant in the disruption of energy patterns and often seem to cause problems years (even decades) later. Quantum Energetics Structured Therapy has been found to be highly beneficial in working with head injuries as well as many other energy conditions.

QEST helps with identification of energetic problems at early stages. According to our understanding, QEST allows the body to find its own innate balance, returning it to wellness and freedom from pain. Positive results have been experienced with many problems including structural pain/weakness, metabolic disorders, and more. Many people report additional benefits of improved sense of well being and immune response, greater energy, enhanced mental clarity, and emotional stability.

What is the “energy body”? Our physical bodies are composed of matter, which we can see. Quantum physics recognizes that this matter is also energy, which most of us cannot see. However, the energy body can be seen on film through Kirlian photography. QEST practitioners believe that this energy body infuses the physical body and extends slightly beyond it—and that it forms an energy blueprint for what happens in the physical body. Because we are energy beings, we are affected by energy—in this case—energy from the QEST practitioner’s hands.

How is Quantum Energetics Structured Therapy done? QEST procedures are of two types: (1) Energy directed from the hands in a timed hold and (2) Energy moved in a directional manner, with breathing. (Breath is a very large part of QEST work.) It seems that both ways gently stimulate the healing process in a natural manner. Additionally, ingestion of certain food substances may help the body (energetically) to effect changes in certain conditions.

Analogies: One QEST client says, “Everything in the body is electricity...nerves, cells and what QEST does is help to remove blocks to this optimal energy flow.” Working with the body with QEST could be likened to hooking up battery cables to a stalled vehicle. If the cables are hooked up to the right places, and energy is allowed to flow for sufficient time, the battery will be charged. Note that just as the vehicle needs some “running time” to become completely restored after the cables have been disconnected, your body will need time for energy alignment to take place after your QEST visit.

Will you focus on my symptoms? QEST systematically seeks to address energetic disturbances which seem to contribute to symptoms. There are often many factors involved—not just one. We do follow a sequence, and because various systems and components of the body are so interrelated, it is very common that working with one condition will allow for positive changes of a seemingly unrelated symptom. Furthermore, working with this apparently “unrelated” condition is often crucial for obtaining desired results. Thus, there is an order to be followed in helping your body to restore its healthy balance.

However, I will look carefully at your symptoms and do my best to help you as soon as possible--perhaps doing some procedures out of order.

How does the QEST practitioner know what to do?

In QEST, we have a language by which we can get “yes” or “no” answers from the body about what conditions are present on an energetic level. Therefore, we have a way for your body to communicate which QE procedures should be done.

What do you mean by “language”? Numerical code (ex: 2M 440T) + Muscle Testing = Language. This “language” gives us answers from the innate intelligence of your body and takes the guesswork out of what we do. It enables us to make a customized approach for you. QEST has identified thousands of numerical codes that correspond vibrationally with various conditions in the body. Everything in nature has its own vibrational frequency, and these codes have been discovered through research—rather than particular numbers just being “assigned” to a condition.

How is the “language” utilized? QEST codes or numbers are tapped onto the body in a Morse-code fashion and immediately followed by testing an uninjured and strong muscle. The result is a “yes” or “no” answer. Thus, we know how to proceed. Muscle testing, muscle checking, or Applied Kinesiology (AK) is not unique to our work, but it is used by various other systems for healing. However, one thing that is unique about our work is the use of our codes, along with the muscle checking, for getting answers from the body about what conditions exist, and therefore, what needs to be done, energetically by the QEST practitioner. We systematically check through the codes, in numerical order. At each visit, we check new codes to determine which energy procedures should be done. Next visit, we “pick up” where we left off in the sequence, determining which new energetic disturbances show up to be addressed during that visit. As a general rule, we do not have to repeat procedures.

Where are the numbers tapped?

The codes or numbers are used in all of these ways: (a) over an area of pain or concern, (b) over a body reference point, or (c) over a central “switchboard” or energy center of the body.

It is said that the conditions are present on an “energetic level.” What does that mean?

Let’s explain by using some examples. Whenever the body “tells us” that a certain code/condition is present, it may be there in a “big way” or a “small way.” For example, if the code 4M 909T (fracture of the femur) tests positive, it might be present to varying degrees:

1. The bone is obviously fractured. Easily seen on an x-ray, or even by an untrained observer!

2. The bone has a hairline fracture which could very easily be missed on an x-ray unless the ideal exposure angle and intensity is used.

3. The energy (electromagnetic and more subtle energies) passing through and over-lying the bone is “broken”. The strength of the whole area is compromised or lessened.

Here is another example: 2M 440T (Toxins in the liver)

1. The gathering of toxins is organized into easily observable cells, analogous to the obvious fracture mentioned above.

2. There is a microscopic gathering of cells, or ‘growth’. Compare this to the hairline fracture mentioned above. There, but very subtle.

3. The condition is present in the energy template or energy “blueprint” for the body. (Think of a blueprint for a house. The wall isn’t “there” yet, but that is where the carpenter will build it unless you intervene and change the blueprint!)

Important! When a code is found to be present, this “energy” level (the 3rd level) is ALWAYS involved, and it is the ONLY level that we know the condition is on. This energetic level alone has been found to cause many problems, so it really doesn’t matter if the more obvious level(s) are present. They may be present—or they may be absent. Therefore, we are not “diagnosing”, because we do not know to what degree the condition is present—other than that it is present on an energy level.

The above-mentioned codes have been used as examples. As we check and find codes which your body indicates as present, please remember this explanation, since it will apply to all other codes or conditions, such as an “avulsion of a ligament”, for example.

Do the same procedures have to be done again and again? No—good news! There are a few exceptions (things that may have to be repeated), but the large majority of the procedures are lasting. In order to assure such results, a quick “programming” is done after each procedure. It is much like “saving” on a computer. This unique feature is one of the things that enable QEST to achieve such powerful results!

Does everyone need the same things to be done? Out of the many procedures that are checked, there are two that we find necessary for everyone. Beyond that, everyone’s requirements are different. These two “universal” powerful procedures are foundational steps upon which everything else is based. They enable the body to receive and utilize more energy for healing, maintenance and health and often have dramatic results, by themselves, even before other procedures are done!

How quickly will I experience results? Everyone varies so much that it is impossible to answer that question. Some people do experience results immediately! Some who have been helped dramatically by QEST did not experience results quickly. They were patient, realizing that their condition did not occur “in a day” and will probably not go away “in a day”. Clients often notice some changes immediately (ex.: an increased sense of calmness and well-being, relief of pain, etc.) and are thereby encouraged. Some simply have a sense that QEST resonates with them and know that it is “right”. How soon your body experiences results will be determined by how many “layers” of the energetic problem are contributing to the symptom. (Remember that no promises can be made with QEST or with any other modality!)

Does it hurt? Generally, not at all! The vast majority of QEST procedures are very gentle and involve only light touching. There are just a few procedures such as diaphragmatic entrapments that may be uncomfortable for some (performed only if they are indicated through testing). These procedures may seem similar to other modality’s physical practices; however, we view and approach our methods not in terms of manipulation, but as gentle, direct guidance to help the body to “right” and heal itself. I will ask for your feedback and proceed as lightly as possible with these important procedures

How long does it take to go through the “program”? The length of time needed to work through the sequence of codes varies from person to person (from a few weeks to more than a year). You are unique. You may choose to begin at the beginning and work quickly or slowly, according to the nature of your problem and what works best for you. If you who drive or fly from a distance you may begin QEST and resume the work later. Previous work is not “lost.” Once you have completed the basic program, you are considered to be more “intact.” The advantage of a more intact system is that the body seems to be operating at a more efficient energy level and health, thereby making conditions favorable for health. Another advantage is that new problems may be addressed more quickly once the foundational work has been done because the initial sequence no longer needs to be followed.

The emphasis is not to see how quickly one can advance through QEST, but rather to have QEST energy work done on a regular maintenance basis. Once the basic program is completed, most clients want to continue being checked and worked with from time to time, much like having your car maintained. New research often becomes available, new conditions may have developed, and existing conditions may have previously hidden due to the body’s “layering” efforts!

Congratulations on choosing this gentle and powerful energy medicine known Quantum Energetics Structured Therapy. Please go to this website to learn more about how our work has helped others and get an idea of how it may help you: Thank you and best of wishes for your enhanced quality of life.

Agreement

QEST Practitioner

As a QEST Practitioner, I do not diagnose or heal anyone. I consider myself a catalyst, working with energy directed through my hands to your body. Our experience shows that this work seems to encourage the body to heal itself and find its innate balance. I will do my best according to my knowledge and experience to help you on your path towards better health by working with the energy body. I am committed to my own personal health and growth and continue to expand my knowledge to better serve my clients.

Client

I ask that you keep the lines of communication open and inform me of other care you are receiving so that we may work cooperatively. I respect the practice of other professionals, and should the need arise, I expect you will seek appropriate medical help. I do not advocate the work as a substitute for allopathic medicine but do ask you keep an open mind to a new way of understanding the body.

Realize that you may not experience immediate results. QEST is very powerful, but changes are usually subtle and gradual with some normal “ups and downs” in the process. I ask you to keep me informed of both problems and progress so we can resolve the problems and rejoice at the progress!

I expect you to maintain time and financial responsibilities. If you cannot keep an appointment, please call me with sufficient prior notice so that I may schedule someone else in that time—at least one day’s notice.

Because some have sensitivities, I ask you to refrain from wearing perfumes or other fragrances to your visit.

I believe that the energy work known as Quantum Energetics Structured Therapy is extremely beneficial for good health. However, we are multi-dimensional beings, and we do not get to “slide” by only paying attention to one aspect of our health—they all need our focus. Nutrition is important. I recommend that you may want to take good natural multi-mineral / vitamin supplements and other appropriate supplements, in addition to eating a high-quality diet that is rich in whole, unprocessed foods.

Additional crucial factors for optimal physical, emotional, and mental health and well being include the following: exercising regularly, obtaining adequate rest, working with emotional pain and limiting beliefs about yourself, and giving attention to your spirituality.

I have read and I understand the attachment about Quantum Energetics Structured Therapy. I have read the agreement, and with informed consent, I ask Sherry Glickman to work with me.
